The Lean Years.
Quite a sensation has been caused among biblical students by the discovery by Brugsch Bey, the great Egyptologist, of a monumental inscription telling how the Nile failed to rise for seven years in succession about 1,700 years before the Christian era, and a long and terrible famine was the result.

Native Chinese papers state that the Chinese press will in future be controlled by the ministry of posts and communications. The following new laws are proposed: The press shall not be permitted to attack either the government or the administration. Nothing of the nature of a personal attack shall be published, nor shall any secret document of the government be inserted. These laws will be put in operation after the advice of the ministers has been secured.

Just to prove merit—to show you how quickly Preventens can and will check cough or the Grippe—I will mail you free request these samples and my book, Simples. Write Dr. Hooper, Racine, Wis. Preventens are thoroughly harmless little Candy Cold Cure tablets. No Quinine, no laxative, nothing sickening whatever. To check early Colds or Grippe with "Preventens" means sure defeat for Pneumonia, influenza, whooping cough, etc. To stop a cold with additional treatment, run and be obliged to see it afterward. Preventens will however reach a deeply seated cold, but take head-off the sneeze stage; they break it early off these early colds. That is superior better—that is why they are named "Preventens." Promptness however is assured. Promptness on the part of the sender. Promptness on the part of the recipient. No effort to do usual sickening laxatives, night or day, with child or adult, suggests the need of Preventens. Write Dr. Hooper, Racine Wis., today samples and booklet. Preventens are sold by

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, Oct. 28, 1867.—We are pleased to learn of the dangerous illness of the eldest daughter of J. H. Cassidy, Esq., an interesting girl of seven years of age.

Voted to Procure Supply.—At a meeting of the Presbyterian society, held yesterday, a vote was taken to authorize the Session of that church to procure a supply the Rev. Mr. Cowden, of Iowa.

A Smart Old Lady.—A few days since an old lady by the name of Fort, living in the town of Milton, Rock county, walked two miles, and again twenty-four and a half yards of yarn the day after her ninetieth birthday. Such cases of endurance are certainly rare at so advanced an age.

Hard to Beat.—Thomas Barless, of Emerald Grove, left in our office today

65 Peach (thick potatoes) that weighed 60 pounds. The very best of the season did not have a very damaging effect on the potato crop.

The Capture, the Prison, and the Escape.—This is the title of a very interesting volume written by Captain W. G. Glazier who was confined for a long time in Libby and other prisons of the South. Much of it is taken up with the personal recollections of the author and he graphically describes many touching and horrible scenes of captivity which the rebels were in the daily habit of inflicting upon those Union soldiers who were so unfortunately as to fall into the hands of the Southerners. This book is well printed and beautifully illustrated. A story of the author is now in the city and will sell the names of our citizens for the work. It is hoped that she may meet with success.

Coming Attractions.

George M. Cohan's much heralded musical farce, "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," with Emma Camp in the leading role, after successful runs in New York and Chicago, will be presented at the Myers theatre Thursday, Oct. 31. It is said that Miss Camp is given several serious emotional scenes. "There will be interesting to those who have seen her in burlesque. Although "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" consists of comedy, drama, burlesque, melodrama and musical comedy, cleverly inter-from one o'clock until three o'clock in the morning. This fact has occasioned me a great deal of trouble, for I find it difficult to get an apartment where the neighbors will be broad minded enough to allow me to thump on a piano until I have a melody arranged to suit me. I try every song over and over again, until, when I finally have a song left ready for the printer, I am as tired of it myself that I hate to hear it. I write quickly and have been fortunate in the past in so feeling that have struck public mixed in an interesting way. In the conception of the tale, selection of characters, and originality of situations, Mr. Cohan has shown the same ability for getting together his material, and surprises that was noticeable in "Little Johnny Jones."

Miss Camp plays the part of "Plain Mary," a servant girl in the Castleton household in New Rochelle, a New York suburb, just 15 minutes from Broadway by rail, thus giving the piece its title. Revolving about Mary in the development of the story are a young millionaire, a schemer, a mercenary mother, a villainous stockbroker, minor characters, and fancy. When I write a play, I work differently. I use a phonograph, and dictate in it, as the ordinary stenographer makes me frantically nervous. Then I take the stenographer's copy of my conversation, and revise it until it looks like a Chinese puzzle, and then have it freshly typewritten. When I wrote the music for "The Time, The Place and The Girl," and "The Captive," I labored for a long time, but got good results finally. With my two pieces, "The Girl Question" and "The Flower of the Ranch," I seemed to work more easily. The songs seemed to come of their own ac-

MISS MABEL BARRISON IN "THE FLOWER OF THE RANCH."

"Kid Burns," a Broadway boy who expresses much practical philosophy in an entertaining song. This role, the opposite to that played by Miss Camp, is acted by Scott Welch, who has made a success of it.

"The Flower of the Ranch," by Joseph E. Howard, composer and author, and musical comedy star as well, has his own distinctive methods of writing his successes. "I find that in song writing," says Mr. Howard, "I can do my best work and, I flatter myself that I have never done better work in "The Flower of the Ranch" especially. I seemed to be able to write character, full of melody, full of atmosphere. It may be that this was because I wrote the play myself, and felt inspired with the scope and breadth of the Western subject."

"The Flower of the Ranch," with Mr. Howard and Mabel Barrison as the stars, will be the big attraction at the Myers theatre Saturday evening under the auspices of the Elks.

THE INDIAN ELEVEN.

The Carlisle Gridiron Warriors Have Sensational Schedule.

PLAY FIVE LEADING TEAMS.

And Meet Them on Successive Saturdays—Glen Warner, Head Coach, is the Man Behind the Scalp Lifter. Studious Athletes.

The Carlisle Indian football eleven took on its shoulders this season the heaviest burden for a team known in the history of the game. Think of it! The Indians' schedule called for the following games between Oct. 20 and Nov. 23:

Carlisle versus University of Pennsylvania, Carlisle versus Princeton,

MOUNT PLEASANT, GREAT CARLINER INDIAN QUARTERBACK.

Carlisle versus Harvard, Carlisle versus Chicago and Carlisle versus Minnesota. All these big teams to be met on successive Saturdays!

Surely the "white man's burden" fades in comparison with that of the red man. The fearless energy of the Indian of story was certainly in the minds of those who planned this football campaign.

What college man would want the job? If he were handed such a schedule he would think his manager had gone mad. And yet the men who have learned what a wonderful machine the Indian is know that he will do the trick. All the "braves" now in training at Carlisle have their year point on and want to get after the "big fellows" even if they advance almost in lock-step, one team hard and fast on the heels of another.

The best of the eastern college eleven consider two "big games" and those well along in the season quite enough of football at top speed for one year. But here is a team which takes five in a row and all of them with first class men of both the east and west as opponents.

Head Coach Glen Warner of Cornell fame is the man who is developing this remarkable array of redskins.

STEPHEN, THE ABLE CHICAGO UNIVERSITY QUARTERBACK.

The good feeling and friendly spirit exhibited among the players are more apparent than ever before, and Warner's straightforward method of dealing with them has a great deal to do with it. They all know that sooner or later they get their chance and that Warner, better than most men, can see possibilities in the Indian athlete.

Life on the Carlisle reservation is made interesting in football as well as in study, and that is why the players like to practice twice daily and listen to gridiron chalk talks almost every evening. A feature of the season's work is a close study of the systems of play used by the school's several rivals. The week preceding each big game will be devoted to perfecting both offensive and defensive play best calculated to offset the work of the particular antagonist in view.

Amble Johnson, the famous Carlisle player of other years, is assisting Warner, and the speed of the eleven is increasing daily under his instruction.

Powerful Glass. The great Lick telescope will pick out a star as small that it would require 30,000 of them put together to be visible to the naked eye.

THE FINANCIAL OUTLOOK.

Influence of the Wall Street panic are being felt throughout the country and caution is now the watchword.

Following the lead of the New York Clearing House, Chicago, St. Paul and other large cities have today adopted the same policy.

This is not an element of weakness, for it means protection of depositors, because the clearing house certificate is a negotiable paper used between banks for the day's clearances. In a word:

"It is a new variety of emergency currency available for banks alone."

It is authorized by an organization of banks, secured by gilt edged bonds or other collateral, which is accepted at 75 per cent of its face value. Such security forms the basis of the currency in most of the civilized countries of the world and is advocated by bankers as the best means of securing an elastic currency.

It differs from a bank note also in that its use is restricted to the payment of daily balances at clearing houses. In Chicago this daily balance approximates $5,000,000. It is available for no other debts.

It is issued in denominations of $5,000, $10,000, and $50,000.

It draws 7 per cent interest, payable to the Chicago Clearing House association.

The issuing of these certificates amounts to increasing the volume of the circulating medium in channels where it can be used at a time of money stringency.

Henry Claws, the New York banker, in writing on the situation, says:

"There is now no room for panic. The effect of this collapse has no doubt reached the climax in financial circles, and it now remains to be seen when the effects will be in industrial and mercantile circles. It is not to be supposed that the process of readjustment is complete."

"It is likely to go on for some time to come. Probably some recovery may ensue later on in the security markets, but the fact that we have fairly entered into an era of business reaction may as well be accepted."

"Contraction must follow, and if commercial embarrassments multiply they must be accepted philosophically as a part of the general reaction. Prices in the commodities markets will now have to take their share of the decline."

"Extravagance will cease and economy will become the order of the day. New enterprises will be suspended for some time to come and there will be a lessened demand for both commodities and labor."

"This part of the process of readjustment will be unwelcome, but it is inevitable and is the only way for a substantial re-establishment of confidence. By means of such adjustments we should reach a lower and more stable basis for a business revived later on."

sweet and not lose faith in humanity. Confidence will be restored, and prosperity resumed on a better basis.

So the Milwaukee Free Press must pay six cents damages to ex-Governor Scofield for an alleged libelous article that was printed during the heat of a campaign about him. Well, the Free Press will not fall into the hands of a receiver to pay that. Some newsy, with good luck, could do it on the first three papers he sold.

Shows can come and go, but the great Barnum &amp; Bailey will not be the same circus now that the Ringlings have gotten a hold of it. It will be bigger, better and more elaborate than ever. If they put back the old parade they will do a wise thing.

Madison is having an awful time with its students. The President of the University has informed the police that any student who breaks the law is to be punished just the same as any one else. Still they do it and escape punishment.

Chicago comments on the fact that the time between Denver and Chicago is so far out two hours and says that the Denverites can not get there quick enough. Perhaps it is the other way but Chicago does not see it that way as yet.

Evanson has a polite burglar who thinks people he robs for their kindness in having funds on hand for his use and classes the sleeping babies because he has a brother of his own. Nice man, is he not?

The Emperor of Abyssinia has given his people a constitution. This is something like it, and the blacks who live in this African empire will doubtless know just what to do with their new plaything.

Mr. Cooke, of Chicago, who has fought conviction for grafting while a county official, will have lots of time to think over what he will do when he gets out.

Though it has been demonstrated that a good man can run from Milwaukee to Chicago in eighteen hours, the average citizen would not care to have to make the trip.

It will take Roosevelt some time to get used to the fact he does not have to make a speech every time he sees a crowd.

Taft is still in the Philippines and thus far he has not been made a Datto to any new tribes of American citizens.

All trust doctors say that the trusts are nice, good trusts, but there are lots of trusts that are not good just the same.

Walter Wellman had been able to go as far as that German balloon did he would have been to the North Pole and back inside a week.

The Gollmer Brothers, circus magnates, are reported to have made so much money in the circus business that they are going to retire.

Several cities have the idea they are going to get that convention away from Chicago. They have two guesses coming.

The balloon men want an extra cent but so there will be no danger of their reaching either the Atlantic or the Pacific.

The first cabinet meeting was pulled off all right and Washington has again settled down to a peaceful winter.

Inflated markets are not what they seem. Sooner or later the bottom drops out of the pan and down the prices tumble.

Speaking of high money. The Albany man who gave $102 for a plain quarter—talk about inflated finance.

The farmers who have dollar wheat are glad they have it; the man who sold his for seventy-eight is sorry.

Peasants as a steady diet are no good that the price will probably jump up when the demand increases.

They say potatoes are not going to keep this winter. Well, it is a cliché they will not if they are eaten.

Mr. Edison's thousand dollar house is all right but where is the thousand to come from.

The Illinois primary bill is going to have a hard struggle to get through that state senate.

Janesville is the place where sound and substantial banks are situated.

The pumpkin pie season is here. So is halloween.

PRESS COMMENT.

An Incomplete Wardrobe. Madison Democrat: A Milwaukee thief was caught with twenty-one pieces of women's wearing apparel. Wonder what he did with all the rest.

Word Has a Crabbed Sound. Shoboygan Journal: The Russian beet sugar yield this year totals 73,500,000 pounds. If you want to know what a pool is, write to the czar.

They're Twin Disturbances. Exchange: Secretary Taft has had a long conference with Aguinaldo. So has Hughes. The latter has just had a long conference with Aguinaldo Hearst.

Poor Guy—Dates Post. Green Bay Gazette: Jane Peyton the actress has just married for the third time. Evidently a strong believer in the old adage, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

Tempt Not Cohan the Van! Milwaukee Sentinel: Some one is trying to prove that Shakespeare's works were written by the earl of Southampton. Next thing we know somebody will say George Cohan wrote them.

Not the One To Complain. Green Bay Gazette: William Jennings Bryan says that many papers of the country are for sale editorially. Has it been necessary for Mr. Bryan to pay for any of the advertising he has been getting?

Justified—After Many Centuries! Buffalo News: An eminent Egyptologist finds that Pharaohs were hearted because he always had the toothache. We move that the indictment against Pharaoh be quashed and an apology made.

Small Obstacles Shouldn't Count. Milwaukee Journal: Yes; Congressman Cury don't let such a little thing as the constitution of the United States stand in the way of a four-year term for congressmen. Besides, the constitution is out of style anyway.

Ought To Be Discouraging. Evening Wisconsin: The poultry raffle will have to stay outside the police hallways as usual. This will prevent foolish men from trying to find a Sunday dinner at the risk of paying several times what poultry is worth on the counters of dealers.

Has Long, Hard Row to Hoe. Superior Telegram: President Diaz of Mexico has decreed that bull fighting in that country must cease—or at least be adopting plans to bring it to an end. He has given his countrymen to understand that he does not approve of bull fighting and regards it as a check to civilization.

Where the Rub Will Come. Madison Journal: Everything but living expenses seems to have a downward tendency. There is some comfort in the thought that the process of adjustment is going on constantly, and that in time the equilibrium will be restored between income and outgo. The only danger is that the man with the average salary may be beyond enjoying the equilibrium when it is reached.

True Story of Bill Brown. Stevens Point Journal: Bill Brown, a well known lumber cruiser of Menomonie, Wis., while trying a new gun, became provoked because it would not work to suit him. He grasped it by the barrel and swung it around to bang it against a stump. As it struck the stump the gun was discharged and the shot lodged in Brown's abdomen producing instant death.

Troubles of the Walling Family. La Crosse Leader Press: The arrest of an American family in Russia need not occasion expressions of indignation. The Wallings were preaching discontent and revolution, and while the people of this country may believe that what they said was true, still few will hold that anyone has the right to go into another country and stir up trouble. The Wallings were lucky to be released as soon as they were and with so few disreputable features.

Press Agents Up to Old Tricks. Oshkosh Northwestern: That story about an Ohio man being killed by a bag of sand dropped from one of the racing balloons has a rather fishy appearance. The report says the man was an employee of Standard's circus, which was holding a performance in a specified city. And reading between the lines one is forced to the conclusion that the circus press agent saw a fine opportunity to get a little free advertising.

Washington on Rollers. La Crosse Chronicle: The postoffice chief in Washington, who comes forward with the plan for the clerks of the department in what to work each morning, is one of those independent and powerful thinkers who keep the world hustling daily to a higher and higher state of civilization. Some persons there are who are inclined to ridicule him. Christopher Columbus, Charles Darwin and Prof. Morse had to run the gamut of ridicule in their day, but their follow men learned to appreciate them as geniuses. The funniest that now are being visited upon the rollerskate statesman will be regretted some day.

Proud du Lac Not Delighted. Fond du Lac Reporter: The state tax commission has seen fit to give Fond du Lac county fifth place in rank as to wealth in Wisconsin. While we take great pride in standing so high still the satisfaction we may feel is not entirely without alloy. There is always the knowledge that the higher our equalized value is placed, the greater will be our proportion of the state taxes, and notwithstanding the polite fiction that there will be "no state tax this year" which has been handed out to us for several years past, some way or another we always find a demand for money for various state purposes on our tax certificates.

Profit in Spraying the Spuds. Exchange: The excellent work being done by the Wisconsin Experiment Station, finds a notable illustration in the large yield of potatoes in Waupaca county where spraying has been done in a scientific manner. It is stated that sprayed potatoes are yielding from 200 to 250 bushels to the acre this year, while adjoining yielding from 125 to 150 bushels per acre. Here is unmistakable evidence that the farming proposition is being reduced to a scientific basis more and more every year, and that the farmer who knows how and who puts his knowledge into every day service is the man to make the largest profits.

To Punish Successful Dishonesty. Fond du Lac Commonwealth: President Roosevelt has made replies at various times to those critics who contend that the administration policy is responsible for the present financial situation. It is doubtful, however, if he has ever stated his position more clearly, or made a more effective answer, than in his Nashville speech, Tuesday, when he said, "All we have done has been to unnerve the wrong-doing. It was not the fact that it was understood that old the dishonest. All I did was to turn on the light. I am not responsible for turning on the light, but I am not responsible for what the light showed. It is impossible to cut out a cancer without making the patient feel for a few days rather sicker than he felt before. No material well being can save this nation if it loses the lift toward higher things."

Action and Repose. Rockford Register: Dr. Charles H. Dehner has become weary of the "strenuous life." In his sermon Sunday morning at the Methodist Church, New York, he said the frequent use of the term was exasperating. He declared the things have come to a pass that "if one desires to secure a restful environment it is necessary to go out into the night and contemplate the voiceless drifting of the stars." Dr. Dehner doubtless begins to feel the influence of age, and realizes more fully than ever before that repose is as much an element of power as action. There are lives in which all is action, and no repose. There are other lives in which the state elements of character predominate, and such may accomplish little in visible results. The ideal life is a harmonious blending of the dynamic and static elements of character.

Dead Formalities A Staggering Blow. Harper's Weekly: A Chicago man, while traveling in the southwest, chanced not long ago to put up at a "hotel" where a number of state senators were stopping, on their way to the capital. At the table their conversation soon revealed to the other guests that they were newly elected "Senators," full of the dignity of their new honors, and anxious to impress everybody accordingly. These gentlemen caused the Chicago man to feel a little fatigue. It was, "Will the gentleman from Dodgeville have the butter?" and, "Will the gentleman from Centerville pass the bread?" and, "Does the gentleman from Junction care for the pickles?" etc., etc., ad nauseum. Even the natives were beginning to squirm under these official formalities, when the Chicago man turned to the negro waiter, and asked, in his best manner, "And now will the gentleman from Ethiopia bring me another cup of coffee?"

CAUSE OF ROME'S FATE.

Decay of the Citizen A Prelude to Its Downfall.

Not long ago the Esquiline cemetery was excavated, and there was discovered a pit 1,000 feet long and 300 feet deep. It was an ancient burial ground for slaves, who were thrown into it along with the carcasses of animals and the refuse of the city. If it be true that methods of human burial indicate the value which is placed on human life, these Roman slave pits are in themselves sufficient to indicate the spirit that lay behind Roman civilization. The collective tyranny was reproduced in the acts of the single citizen. His voracious egotism was expressed in the hoard of Roman capitalists that their own domains and their own slaves supplied them with almost every article that they needed, and made them independent of the fluctuations of the markets. That is the picture of a society breaking up. It is for such reasons that if the decline of an empire is, as Gibbon called it, "the most awful scene in the history of mankind," it is a scene which cannot find its ultimate explanation in the narrow formulae of politics and economics. For a nation is a collection of individuals whose actions contain elements of surprise, and are incalculable, and the sum of their characters is the national conscience. Hence the national conscience may vary from century to century. On the private tombs of the Romans there have been discovered dedications to Nemesis, but we cannot measure every step of that long and insidious process of deterioration in their private character, which at last caused her name to be written, with deeper meaning, on the tomb of the state. From "The Nemesis of Nations," by W. Romaine Paterson.

ONIONS GROWING IN FAVOR.

Aromatic Vegetable Very Much In Order for Lunch Baskets.

Surely the famous London divine who has sorrowfully declared that more fortunes have been wasted in dining out than in any other way must approve of the simple luncheon which society packs into its baskets when whirling away on an auto tour or some other pleasure excursion. In fact, a well known woman was heard to say when giving orders as to what should fill a lunch basket which was to be taken along on a fishing trip the other day, "Please have 15 or 20 onion sandwiches put in." They evidently struck the waiter as something new, for he ventured to ask, "Did you say onion sandwiches?" "Yes, put thin slices of Bermuda onions between slices of bread. They are delicious, and in the woods one can eat as many as one wishes." They have the added virtues of being good for the complexion and good for the health, and that is something which women look for in their diet in these days, when invalidism is out of fashion. Interesting invalidism the foolish used to call it, and the real sufferers were generally those who paid the bills.

Couldn't Stick Him Again.

A bishop accosted in Fifth avenue by a neat but hungry stranger, took the needy one to a hotel and shared a gorgeous dinner with him, yet, having left his episcopal wallet in the pocket of a different episcopal jacket, suddenly faced the embarrassment of not possessing the wherewithal to pay up. "Never mind," exclaimed the guest, "I have enjoyed dining with you, and I shall be charmed to shoulder the cost. Permit me." Whereupon the stranger paid for two. This worried the prelate, who insisted: "Just let me call a cab and we'll run up to my hotel, where I shall have the pleasure of reimbursing you." But the stranger met the suggestion with: "See here, old man! You've stuck me for a bully good dinner, but hanged if I'm going to let you stick me for carriage."—Baltimore-Sunday Herald.

BUILDING OF A WITICISM.

Point of Joke the Same Though Under Changed Conditions.

The Bohemian had an article entitled, "How a Joke is Made." In it Marshall P. Wilder, the well known humorist, cites this story as an illustration of one method. "Here is a story with a joke in it about Labouchere, the genial editor of London Truth. When he was standing for the borough of Northampton for the English parliament a little girl came up to her father and said: 'Papa, who made Mr. Labouchere?' 'Why, Providence, my dear,' answered the somewhat astonished parent. 'And what for, papa?' Inquired the child. Now that isn't a bad joke. It was natural, anyway. But listen to one of mine, which really has the same point, though it is brought out in a different way. A child and her mother are on the cars. Opposite them sits a young man dressed in the height of fashion. Says the child: 'Mamma, what is that?' and, as she asks the question, she points to the young man opposite. 'Hush, my dear,' answers the mother. 'But, mother, I want to know.' To quiet the child the mother whispers in her ear: 'He is what we call a dude.' The child persists as usual in gaining some more information. 'And who made him, mamma?' 'Why, Providence, dear, of course,' replies the mother sotto voce, whereat the child exclaims: 'Oh, mother, doesn't Providence like to have fun sometimes?' You see, the stories are really alike. At all events, the point is the same."

GIRL KILLED A HAWK.

Bird Had Attacked Her When Driven From Pigeons.

A large hen hawk, weighing nearly fourteen pounds, attacked Miss Eloise M. Shields, 18, of Milton, Mass., while the young woman, accompanied by some friends, was spending the afternoon at the Blue Hills reservation. The party had just had their luncheon and were feeding some pigeons when the hawk swooped down and started to carry off one of the pigeons in its talons. Miss Shields quickly picked up a stone, and throwing it at the bird made it drop its prey. The hawk then attacked the girl and nestling on one of her shoulders started to beat her with its wing. After knocking off the bird with her hands Miss Shields picked up one of the tonic bottles, which the party had been using, and hitting the hawk a hard blow on its head, killed it. Except for a few scratches the young woman was not injured.

Making Use of a Friend.

A Harlem (N. Y.) resident after a busy day was seated restfully at home when the telephone bell rang, says a New York letter. "Meet me at the Waldorf within an hour," called an intimate friend at the other end of the wire; "must see you. Don't fail. Within an hour. Important. Good-by." The Harlemitte grumbled, wondered why business should follow a tired man into his home, got into his boots, kissed his wife and hustled for the hotel. His friend was waiting for him in the Waldorf cafe. "Well, Jim," he said, "what is it? What's up?" "What's up?" echoed Jim. "Why, I'm as lonely as a cat on a tin roof. Want company—come one to talk with. What will you drink?" Jim is a bachelor.

A Vast Sum.

The amount of money which the government is called upon to redeem in the course of the year reaches an almost fabulous amount. In 1904, for instance, it totaled $912,000,000. This redemption is either for the purpose of securing clean, fresh notes or to get change of some other denomination.

Right Principle Requisite.

We want principle as the regulator of men's lives, rather than expediency; men should strive after the right, and not be turned to the right or the left to attain even a seeming good end. —Platt.

Spice Economy

Spices are the "finishing touch" to many a dish. Much cooking is flat and tasteless because of poor spices. Spices are the "life" of nearly every article of food. They make it appetizing and more digestible. Good cooking is impossible without good spices. The "Symonds Inn Spices" are guaranteed to be absolutely pure and full strength. Try a 2-oz. pkg. of Black Pepper, 5 cts.

we should have a chance if you are going to buy a cooking range to show and explain all about the dependable ROUND OAK Chief steel range, made in Downings, Mich. It is just as good a range as the ROUND OAK is a stove and to people who know the genuine ROUND OAK that statement will mean much. In good material—the workmanship, baking and cooking qualities the Chief is without question the finest example of high quality steel range making on the market. Being made genuinely good it will wear, being fitted and mounted the ROUND OAK way it will save fuel every day it runs. You will be surprised to learn how little fuel it takes. It is reasonable in price and is to be seen right here on our floor where all its superior merits can be pointed out. You don't have to take anything for granted. Call any time most convenient and see a steel range that is right. The cheapest in the end kind. Hook of the Chief steel range for the asking or by mail.

PIERSON & PORTER

"The Palace of Sweets"

'He Had To Acknowledge The Corn'

The other day a dental traveling man was in to see Dr. Richards to sell him some goods.

In visiting together the Doctor showed him some of the beautiful work he is putting out among his patients.

and asked him point blank, "In your visits among other dentists here do you see any such beautifully finished work as I am doing?"

Of course the traveling man hesitated saying much considering the fact that he sold goods to all the dentists in the city.

But he did acknowledge that this work was more finely finished than any he had seen in Janesville.

Now, the specimens shown him were not special cases but just regular finished work the same as Dr. Richards gives everybody.

You can fairly see your face reflected so fine is the polish he puts on his rubber plates. Now all this means Extra work.

Extra care taken to give you the best there is.

And his prices are another attractive feature.

The patients never feel like calling him Dr. Big Boy.

Try him yourself for your next needed dental work.

THREE BOYS GO TO REFORMATORY

FOR STEALING CIGARS FROM FAIR STORE SATURDAY NIGHT.

ROBBED WOMAN OF PURSE

Three Weeks Ago and Have Been Guilty of Numerous Other Offenses Within the Past Year.

Four youths—Lawrence Griffin, Johnnie Hossain, Leo Hogan, and Homer Arndt—assumed a more or less devil-may-care attitude as they faced Judge Filch in municipal court this morning on the charge of stealing four boxes of cigars, valued at $1.50 each, from the Fair store Saturday night. The three that named had been in court more than once during the past year for similar offenses and it was a foregone conclusion that justice would not again be compared to any great extent with mercy. Hence the brigade of Johnnie Hossain who went bitterly on the former occasion, and the others, Arndt is a now recruit to the ranks of boy criminals, but he was the indifferent pose assumed by the trio like a veteran.

Theft Was A Bold One.

After entering the store Saturday night the quartet made a pretense of wishing to buy some groceries. The case was not very successfully worked out and when they were asked to acquire a very strong suspicion, and to leave the store. The police, however, were taken in tow by Officer Brinkman and after confessing their guilt and implicating the others, they accompanied the officers to the post-office alley and revealed part of the stolen property. The two other offenders were arrested yesterday morning and the balance of the cigars recovered. Three of the boys were imprisoned in the women's compartment which adjoins the office of the city marshal and only this morning Officer Brown heard them agreeing with one another to "tear up paper and scatter it around so as to make as big a mess as possible for the police to clean up." Needless to say, this foolish little plan was not carried out.

Three Going to Reformatories.

After reminding young Griffin that he had tried to give him a chance to mend his ways and expressing his regret that he was compelled to take such action, Judge Filch sentenced the boy to the industrial school at Waubesa until he reaches the age of 21, unless he shall be released sooner according to law. Griffin was fifteen years of age yesterday. Martin Hossain, father of the erring Johnnie, pleaded for another chance for the youth, promising to take him out of town, but the court was so sure that it would be better for the lad to be put under restraint. Johnnie was 14 years old last June and will go to Waubesa with the same sort of a sentence as that meted out to Griffin. Leo Hogan pleaded guilty, stating that he took his box of cigars just because he "saw them there." When questioned with regard to the alleged theft of some fountain pens at Himmelsch's drug store, he entered a denial. Judge Filch said that Hogan would be given the same sentence as the other boys unless he can make good. It is impossible to send him to Waubesa, as the industrial school of the same kind and pay his expenses there, as he had asked permission to do. His case was therefore held open until Wednesday morning; likewise that of young Arndt who is a first offender. Hogan and Arndt are to remain in confinement during the interim unless $500 bail bonds are provided.

Guilty of Graver Offense.

About three weeks ago a lady who had been to H. A. Mosser's West Milwaukee street office to pay some invoice was waylaid by a band of ruffianly youngsters as she was leaving the premises and pocket book which had contained over $20 but which then held but 75 cents, snatched from her hands. Each of the four boys, in court this morning admitted having shared the proceeds of this enterprise, though none would throw any light on the identity of the one who seized the purse.

Drunk in Court.

John Shultz of Milwaukee employed at the South Janesville railroad yards, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and went to the county jail for 5 days in lieu of paying a fine and costs of $3.10. Vandy Turner of Koshongong paid $3.10. Charles Blaw was unable to pay $5.10 and went to jail for eight days. Dan McCarthy paid $3.10.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. John Kingsley.

Mrs. John Kingsley, for 40 years a resident of Janesville, died at the home of her son, John Kingsley, Oak Park, Ill., Sunday where she had gone to make her home a year ago. She was 78 years of age, having been born in Ireland. The deceased is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Thomas Byron of Chicago, Mrs. Harry Kollar of Broadview, Wis., and Mrs. Peter of South Dakota; and one son, John Kingsley, of Oak Park. The remains will be brought here tomorrow morning over the St. Paul road arriving at 10:30, and the funeral will be held from the St. Patrick's church at 11 o'clock. Interment will be made in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Mrs. Grigley Kaghy.

Mrs. Grigley Kaghy died at her home, 265 South River street, Sunday morning. She was 75 years of age and had lived in Janesville for many years. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. C. ## GEORGE RUMRILL'S HOME BURGLARIZED SUNDAY MORNING Night Visitor Pried up Conservatory Window and Got Away With $14 In Cash and Some Jewelry.

Sometime before daylight Sunday morning a burglar gained entrance to George R. Rumrill's residence at 152 Linn street by prying up one of the conservatory windows and ransacked the lower part of the house. Several members of the family were awakened by noises but each supposed that one of the others was moving about the house and made no investigation. In some inexplicable manner the intruder located a small Christmas candle which had been placed in an out of the way nook in the sitting room and used it to guide him in his search. After appropriating seven silver dollars found in a drawer, he came upon Mrs. Percy Munger's pocket-book containing a five dollar bill and two dollars in silver which was hanging in the hall, and helped himself to the contents. Some small pieces of jewelry, but none of them of great value, were also secured. His search concluded, the amateur thief blew out the candle and made his exit by the north hall door, leaving nothing except a number of burnt matches of a variety different from those in use at the home, as mementoes of his visitation. The work is believed to have been done by local talent.

REGULAR MEETING OF THE COUNCIL TONIGHT

Application For a Saloon License Will Probably be Considered and Routine Business Transacted.

Routine business will be transacted by the city council at the regular meeting which opens at 7:30 this evening. The application of Phil Costigan and Sam Doran for a license to conduct a saloon at the former John Bros. meat market stand on West Milwaukee street will probably come up for consideration.

William Dettmer whose claim for $1,000 damages for alleged injury worked to his property at the corner of Lincoln St. and Fairfield avenue by the grading work in Riverside park, was dealt with at a recent meeting of the City Fathers, has appeared to the circuit court. It is possible that something may be done about purchasing a new road roller. Prospects to not point to a very lengthy session.

Romance of Princess Hohenberg.

Her Morganatic Marriage to Francis Ferdinand, Heir to the Austro-Hungarian Thrones.

COULD it be the breast in which no love of romance lives, and when the romance concerns royalty all the world is ready to read. She is David's wedding of Bathsheba the love affairs of kings have been sung to the great delight of the populace, and when a monarch stoops, like Cyprius to the beggar maid, to lay his heart at a subject's feet, novelists rejoice and sentimental youths and maidens weep tears of gladness. So when it was announced some years ago that the Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria, heir to the oldest and proudest throne in Europe, had fallen in love with a beautiful Bohemian, in whose blood no royal corpses ran and whose highest title was that of countess, the spirit of romance took on new life, and his decision to wed the lady of his choice was applauded far and wide. In his own country, however, the applause was somewhat faint, for the archduke was not overpopular there, and in no country in the world, outside of India perhaps, is the idea of caste more fixed. For a prince of the blood to make a simple countess his wife was regarded as something in the line of sorcery. It would have been all right, of course, for the prince to love his sweetheart under the rose, but to marry her—aristocratic Austrian was against! But Francis Ferdinand was not of the type of certain others of his house. What he did he did openly. He had enough of the Hapsburg obstinacy to withstand even the emperor in this, and so he married Sophie Chotek. It was said that he had been chosen as the husband of Crown Prince Rudolph's widow, and his children were to sit upon the throne of Austria-Hungary after he was gone. No son of a woman not of imperial or royal blood could sit upon that throne, and wedding Sophie Chotek, Prince Ferdinand had to take a solemn oath renouncing for his descendants all claims to imperial power. When he passes away the succession goes from his family. When one remembers how Napoleon divorced Josephine that he might obtain through another marriage a son to succeed him, one may realize what Francis Ferdinand sacrificed for love.

PRINCESS HOHENBERG AND TWO OF HER CHILDREN.

and her husband's modest simplicity of disposition and habits have done much to overcome the unpopularity engendered by their unconventional alliance and the slanders which shrouded Francis Ferdinand's bachelorhood. It was to be expected that the princess would be accused of harboring the ambition of seeing her son upon the throne in spite of her husband's solemn oath and the prohibition of the pragmatic sanction, which forbids to imperial birth the crown of Hungary, and hence the Austrian diadem if the two countries remain united. There seems to be no reason, however, to believe that Francis Ferdinand will not respect his promise, and fear of future trouble over the succession is fast dying out.

An interesting story, probably apocryphal, is told of the manner in which the love of Francis Ferdinand for Sophie Chotek first became known. The archduke had been wooing the countess in secret for some time. One day a servant brought to the archduchess Isabella a slender silver chain, to which were attached a number of trinkets the archduke Ferdinand carried in his pocket. That morning Francis Ferdinand had left the palace of the archduchess at an early hour, having been summoned to his place, Beckstein, on the Danube. By some oversight the valet had left the bunch of pocket trinkets half concealed under the lace covering of a toilet table.

The archduchess did not pay much attention to the trinkets until she saw among them an old little gold medalion. She could understand the other trinkets—the knife, match safe, pencil, etc.—but the medalion stirred her curiosity. She examined it closely, and when opened it revealed a lock of brown hair. In lifting out the hair to hold it to the light her finger touched a tiny hidden spring, which brought into view an exquisitely painted miniature of the Countess Sophie Chotek.

The cat was out of the bag then, and it wasn't long before the whole court knew of the archduke's love affair.

Francis Ferdinand is not the only Austrian of princely rank who has loved outside his circle, though he is the most conspicuous romance. Stephanie, widow of Crown Prince Rudolph, whom Ferdinand was expected to wed, followed his example and married a count, by which act she forfeited an income of $120,000 a year and lost the custody of her only child. It was love of the Baroness Vaternia that cost Crown Prince Rudolph his life. The Hapsburg history is full of romance, some of it sinister, little of it happy. Francis Ferdinand is one of the few for whom the course of true love, while far from smooth, has not been crooked.

PRIMARY BILL IS LIKELY TO PASS

ILLINOIS SOLONS PROBABLY WILL ADJOURN THIS WEEK.

OPPOSITION IS ROUTED

Rush to Support Oglesby Measure Expected in the Senate—Status of Other Proposed Legislation.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 28.—Political seers predict the passage of a direct primary bill and a sine die adjournment of the Forty-sixth general assembly at the end of the present week. Primary election legislation is the only matter over which any serious controversy is likely to develop, and with this subject disposed of, the remainder of the business of the session can be done in short order.

Few members of either branch of the assembly are still of the opinion that it will be impossible to pass a direct primary bill. Indeed, some of the most vigorous opponents of such legislation concede that sufficient votes will be forthcoming to pass the Oglesby bill with the emergency clause intact.

Band-Wagon Rush Expected. The complete routing of the senate "organization" at last Thursday night's session is generally taken to have been the "last ditch" in the struggle to hold to the old methods. Failure to secure support from party leaders in Cook county, who were expected to lend strength to the opposition to a direct primary primary, apparently has discouraged the opponents of the Oglesby bill. A bandwagon rush to pass the measure when the senate reconvenes this week would occasion no surprise.

Of the great batch of amendments—nearly 150 in all—which were prepared by a committee of Republican senators last week, at the advice of a party conference, it is thought by many of the senators that few of the more important ones will even be presented.

Other Senate Measures.

Five bills are on the order of third reading on the senate calendar. All of these can be disposed of in short order after the primary election matter is settled. The last bit of legislation expected on the deep waterways subject is the Allen-Lantz bill, which came over from the house last week. This measure declares the Desplaines and Illinois rivers to be navigable streams and authorizes the governor and attorney general to proceed to bring about the removal of all obstructions in both streams that are calculated to interfere with navigation. It carries an emergency clause and is expected to receive the full vote of the senate.

The state architect bill is likely to have rougher sledding. The bill provides for an increase in the expense allowed the state architect's department from one and one-half to two and one-half per cent. of the total cost of buildings constructed under the supervision of this department.

Rough seas also are likely to be encountered by Senator Etteson's state deposit bill. This is a modification of the measure on the same subject which was hung up in the senate last winter. The bills advocated by the United Societies of Chicago, and introduced in the senate by Mr. Jandus, have reached the order of third reading, but are not expected to get any further. One is designed to give cities and villages the right to regulate Sunday observance by saloons, and the other authorizes the granting of special law permits for picnics and other social gatherings.

Mr. Barry's bill, authorizing cities, incorporated towns and townships to maintain free public libraries and reading rooms, probably will pass without opposition.

Bills Pending in the House.

Four senate bills are on the order of third reading in the house and indications are that they will all be passed as soon as a quorum of the house is gathered together. These are the bills prolonging the life of the internal improvement commission; the wheel tax bill authorizing municipalities to tax vehicles; the measure designed to permit the Illinois Traction system to extend its tracks across the campus of the University of Illinois; and that making an appropriation for the East St. Louis free state employment office.

The Chicago Civic Federation tax bill, creating a commission to investigate the subject of state revenue and to report to the Forty-sixth general assembly, was sent to second reading in the house and will be passed without opposition. The measure has already passed the senate.

CATARRH BLOOD UNHEALTHY SYSTEM DERANGED

The entire inner portion of the body is covered with mucous membrane; this membranous tissue is abundantly supplied with blood vessels, veins, arteries, and capillaries. Each of these is constantly supplying to this tissue or lining, blood to nourish and strengthen it and keep the system healthy. When the blood becomes infected with catarrhal matter it is not able to furnish the required amount of healthful properties, but feeds the parts with impurities which disease the membranes and tissues so that they become irritated and inflamed, and Catarrh, with all its disagreeable and dangerous symptoms, is established in the system. There is a constant ringing in the ears, a thin, watery discharge from the nostrils, the breath has an offensive odor, slight fever often accompanies the disease, and gradually the entire health becomes affected and the system upset and deranged. In its earlier stages, when Catarrh is confined to the nose and throat, sprays, washes, inhalations, etc., are soothing and in a way beneficial, because they are cleanly and usually antiseptic, but such treatment has no curative effect, because it does not reach the blood.

To cure Catarrh the blood must be purified, and this is just what S. S. S. does. It goes down into the circulation and attacks the disease at its foundation; it removes the cause and makes the blood pure and healthy. Then the blood vessels are filled with fresh, reinvigorated blood, which is carried to all the mucous surfaces and linings, the inflammation and irritation are corrected, the symptoms all disappear, the health is improved and Catarrh is permanently cured. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free to all who write.

CHAPTER III.

WHEN he reached the farm, overcast from his rapid walk in the sun, he stopped at the springhouse to get a glass of water before going into the kitchen.

It was with a sudden sharp thrill that as he stepped into the cool, shady stone room he unexpectedly found himself alone with Eunice.

She was seated on the stone steps by the well, bending laboriously over a torn sheet of a newspaper.

As his figure suddenly darkened the doorway she started violently as though discovered in some shameful guilt. He was held for an instant by the picture she made, the grace of her youthful form in its tense attitude of actual fear, the beauty of her wide, frightened eyes, the exquisite delicacy of her face in its sudden whiteness.

But his second thought was not so complimentary.

"What a cruel little coward!" was his mental comment, with an impulse of contemptuous pity, for he had not lived here ten days without having seen that this foster daughter of the Morningstars was downtrodden as none but a girl of weak or mean spirit would permit herself to be, and he understood that her present sense of guilt was due to the contraband newspaper she was found idly reading when she should have been hard at work.

As far as he had observed, the girl was never allowed ten minutes of relaxation from morning to night; also, Mr. Morningstar had strictly forbidden his household to touch the "gentleman's boarder's" daily paper, which he pronounced a wily invention of Satan.

So it was only a feeling of fear that could rouse her from her lethargy.

"It's only I," he said apologetically. "May I come in and get a glass of water?"

She did not seem much reassured by the fact that it was only he. She sank back heavily against the step as he came forward and helped himself, but her eyes as they followed him did not lose their strained expression nor her face regain its color. He watched her curiously as he slowly drank a glass of water. The newspaper was crumpled into her lap, and her gaze seemed held by his in a sort of fascination.

"Don't be afraid," he smiled upon her. "I won't tell."

She did not answer. She seemed spellbound. He wondered whether he could make her talk. At least he had made her look at him.

"It's one of my newspapers, isn't it?" he asked.

"Yes," she breathed.

"Old Morningstar makes me hand them over to him to be burned every morning. How did you rescue one?"

She swallowed hard as she managed to answer in a voice just above a whisper. "He puts them in the stove to be burned when I light the fire for breakfast. I take them out."

"Then? And then snatch chances like this for reading them?"

"Yes."

"Timid!" he commented thoughtfully. "Upon my word!"

They looked at each other for an instant without speaking.

"You had never read a newspaper, I suppose, before I came here?"

"No."

"Do you find them amusing?"

"Amusing?" she repeated, the strained expression in her eyes giving way to a puzzled look.

"Well," he conceded, "perhaps you don't find them that—a daily record of crimes and accidents. Interesting, I should have said. Do you like them?"

He added, groping for words intelligible to her simplicity.

"Yes."

"But you can't read with much profit or pleasure when you have to snatch chance moments of them in this way?"

She did not reply.

"And much that you read would be uninteresting to you, I should say, seeing you are not accustomed to reading newspapers. I don't see how you get enough out of it to pay for such a fright as you had just now when you thought you were being caught."

Still she did not answer.

"What a stupid creature!" he thought, marveling that so dull a creature should have a pile of eyes that shone like stars and a countenance of such extraordinary thoughtfulness.

Another thing. She had looked scared half to death upon his discovering her with the forbidden newspaper, but when the petty tyrant of the household, before whom his own son and daughter cinged, appeared on the scene she had met him with cool indifference. Her evident bashfulness would not explain her extreme agitation with himself.

When, a little later, he rose to go to the house he had come to no conclusion about her at all.

"Now, if she were an intelligent girl it would be interesting to get her fresh impression of a newspaper."

Suddenly, while he regarded her speculatively, slipping his water with deliberation and she returned his gaze with a sort of fascinated concentration, the doorway was again darkened, and this time it was he who started with apprehension as Mr. Morningstar came into the springhouse. Kinross was instantly aware of the fact that the girl did not start now nor attempt to hide the newspaper. On the contrary, the presence of the scrubby little farmer seemed suddenly to dislodge the spell which he had evidently cast upon her, for she rose quite deliberately and began to gather together her crocks and cans, keeping the newspaper in her hand.

The small-eyed farmer cast a quick, suspicious glance from one to another of them.

"Stom wants fur you to hurry on in them," he gruffly ordered the girl. "She conceeded that you and Aba was spoonin' together out here. What fur does it take you so wonderful long to fetch in a couple of butter and milk you? Mon'll jaw you, you'll see once I leave!"

He had caught sight of the newspaper and jerked it from her hand.

"What's this to do, he?"

"It belongs to the gentlemen," the girl answered, quite unflinched.

"And you got it to her?" the farmer asked, looking reproachfully at Kinross.

"I dropped it in here and came back to look for it. Eunice had picked it up and was going to give it to me."

"Och, well!" the farmer nodded, passing it on to him. Kinross as he took it looked hard at Eunice to see how she received his impromptu action, but her eyes were veiled and he could not read her face.

"Well," added Morningstar, turning to leave, "you hurry on in, Eunice."

He went away, but Eunice did not so much as glance at Kinross when they were again alone for a moment. She kept right on with her work of loading herself down with her crocks and then without a word started for the house.

He had been wondering whether it would be misplaced gallantry to offer to help her carry in her crocks and things, and by the time she was ready to go he had decided against it. But just as she reached the springhouse door he bethought him to return the paper to her.

Quickly folding it into the smallest possible compass, he stepped to her side and held it out to her.

"Can't you conceal it about you?"

She turned white again as he spoke to her. "Please hide it behind the churn," she said, not raising her eyes and speaking breathlessly, "and I shall find it this evening."

"Very well."

She was gone, and he turned back to do her bidding and was rising from his stooping position when again a shadow darkened the doorway, and he looked up to see Eunice, with a face white to the lips and still laden with her crocks, standing on the threshold.

"Will you please tell me," she began, and he had to take a step nearer to catch her low spoken words, "who is this Andrew Carnegie?"

He stared at her for an instant uncomprehendingly. "This Andrew Carnegie?"

"Of whom the newspapers make frequent mention?"

"Oh," he said, "you ask who he is?"

"If I know I could perhaps understand better what I read in your newspapers."

"You never heard of him before I came here with my newspapers?"

"No. Is he perhaps a book agent or is he not a real person at all, but only a hero, like the Count of Monte Cristo?"

"He is a very real person, indeed; rather substantial, in fact; what you people call 'well fixed,' you know; has enough to worry through on without working. He's all the things you guessed—a book agent, a hero, a Monte Cristo—with a few more thrown in."

"Oh!" she said, gazing at him with bright eyes.

The next instant the springhouse door was again clear. She was gone. But he stood still and waited. Maybe she would come back a second time. And anyway he was too spellbound with astonishment to move.

But she did not return, and he sat down on the stone steps of the well to think it out.

In spite of her simplicity, how superior she seemed to the rest of the family! None of the rest of them would have cared enough about reading the papers to have risked old Morningstar's anger. There was something even in her speech that arrested his attention. "Of whom the newspapers make frequent mention." Of whom? Of whom? So very grammatical. No one else in the family would have said "of whom." And her reference to Monte Cristo! Rather surprising. To know about Monte Cristo and never to have heard of Andrew Carnegie—what an anomaly!

Another thing. She had looked scared half to death upon his discovering her with the forbidden newspaper, but when the petty tyrant of the household, before whom his own son and daughter cinged, appeared on the scene she had met him with cool indifference. Her evident bashfulness would not explain her extreme agitation with himself.

BOB EVANS MAY BE A VICE ADMIRAL

CONGRESS WILL BE ASKED TO ESTABLISH THAT RANK.

FOR CRUISE TO PACIFIC

Commander of Mighty Fleet, If Only Rear Admiral, Would Be Out-ranked in Countries He Will Visit.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The great battleship fleet which is to make its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific will probably be commanded by a vice admiral, and that officer is now Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans.

Of course this is conditional upon congress giving its sanction to the proposal that will be made by the executive to establish this new rank in the navy. The idea is not a new one. In fact, the president in his last annual message to congress, as well as the secretary of the navy in his annual report, made a recommendation to that effect, but without securing the approval of congress. Now, however, conditions are believed to be more favorable than ever before for this project.

Reasons for the Change.

Rear Admiral Evans is going to sail in command of the most powerful fleet that ever gathered under the American flag. Not only that, he commands more battleships of modern type than any other naval officer in the world, and the only officer whose blue pen-pant floats over a more numerous fleet of all kinds of warships is Lord Charles Beresford, and he is of even greater rank than a vice admiral, being an admiral, like Dewey.

On this cruise the American fleet is to touch in many foreign ports and is to exchange courtesies with foreign fleets. In several places—in Brazil, in Chile, in Argentina—the American commander, supposing he retains his present title of rear admiral, would be outranked, for the navies of all of these countries contain officers of the grade of vice admiral, which would make the American commander's position humiliating.

Wouldn't Last Long.

It would be pointed out in Rear Admiral Evans' case that not only is he by his remarkable service record entitled to this advancement, but any objections to the creation of this new grade that might be bronched in congress might be overcome by pointing to the fact that as Rear Admiral Evans retires next August, the office will be of short duration.

THAYER MONUMENT UNVEILED.

Nebraska Honors the Memory of a Soldier and Statesman.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 28.—A monument to the memory of the late Brig. Gen. John M. Thayer, erected by the state of Nebraska, was dedicated at Wyuka cemetery Sunday afternoon in the presence of a large audience. The unveiling was performed by W. K. Gillette and Wesley Burr, two members of the First Nebraska regiment, commanded during the civil war by Gen. Thayer. The dedicatory address was delivered by Col. Thomas J. Majors, of Peru, who served under Gen. Thayer. Gen. John C. Cowin, of Omaha, also delivered an address.

Gen. Thayer served during the Shiloh campaign with Gen. Grant, taking a prominent part in that and succeeding campaigns. He was governor of Nebraska, United States senator, and territorial governor of Wyoming at various stages of his career, and was brevetted major general.

Gen. Thayer's historic home burned. Evansville, Ind., Oct. 28.—Information received here from Rockport, Ky., states that the historic home of the late Gen. Don Carlos Buell at Alrdrie, on the Green river, was destroyed by fire Saturday night. The home was occupied by Gen. Buell during the civil war and he for many years operated iron furnaces near by that were worked by convict labor. The loss will be heavy.

The Butterflies Know.

"Young men whose incomes are small should realize that social butterflies are not for them," says a New York minister. Unless they behave as if the income limit didn't exist, the social butterflies will soon make them realize that they are not for them very strong. The aid of the pulpit is not required.

To Take Out Mildew.

Wet the spots with chloride of lime or with chlorine water, and they will disappear immediately. If the linen has been starched, the spots will require an application daily for two or three days, rinsing out and bleaching in the sunshine after each application.

A New Discovery.

It is stated that a chameleon which is blind loses its power of making itself of the same hue as its surroundings.

Giant Boy.

Greene county, Pennsylvania, has produced a prodigy in Stanley Wright, its youngest school teacher, who for height and avoirdupois it is believed stands without a peer in the state. Young Wright is a product of Richhill township, and though only 17 years of age, stands 6 feet 7 inches in his hose, weighs 265 pounds and is still growing. He wears a No. 18 shoe, which he has made to order.

BURTON OR TOM JOHNSON?

CLEVELAND EXCITED OVER ITS MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN.

Registration Is a Record-Breaker and Each Party Claims Victory on That Score.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 28.—With only one week remaining for active work in the campaign, the Cleveland majority contest is overshadowing everything else here in point of interest in connection with the election of November 5.

The record-breaking registration has been a matter of surprise to political leaders generally and election experts are now kept busy trying to analyze its meaning and probable effect on the interests respectively of Mayor Tom L. Johnson, who is seeking a fourth term, and of Congressman Theodore E. Burton, Republican nominee. The registration has reached a total of 93,000, which is nearly 20,000 in excess of the normal vote in city elections.

Predictions being made by political leaders as to the result of the election vary according to the political feelings of those making them. Republican politicians are sanguine that the big registration assures that Republicans, hereinafter out of line with their party locally and who did not vote at all, are back in line and ready to vote for Mr. Burton. They point to the fact that the biggest increase in registration has been in the heavy Republican wards. Mayor Johnson and his associates, however, are equally sanguine that the increased interest in municipal affairs as shown by the big registration is due to his position on the question of lower street car fares and the regulation of the franchises of public service corporations, as well as to his administration generally.

Chairman Baker in his election forecast predicts Mr. Burton's election for mayor by from 8,000 to 15,000 majority. Mayor Johnson and his managers are confident that the mayor will be re-elected. They predict that his majority will be not less than it was two years ago, when he was elected by 12,000.

RIVERS AND HARBORS CONGRESS.

Call issued for the Meeting December 4 in Washington.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 28.—The official call for the meeting of the national rivers and harbors congress has been sent out by President Russell of Louisiana and Secretary Ellison of this city. The congress will assemble at the New Willard, in Washington, on December 4, adjourning on the evening of December 6.

The call is specific in its declaration that no special project for river or harbor improvement will be advocated or considered by the congress, and that it will stand for a broad and liberal policy by the national government for all such improvements as have been favorably considered by the board of engineers of the army.

Costly Fire in Nome.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 28.—Fire at Nome on Friday caused property loss of about $300,000. The Second avenue office building of the Pioneer Mining company, the best structure of the kind in the town, was among those destroyed, at a loss of $50,000. The fire burned for four hours.

Largest Retail Drug Store.

The greatest drug store in the world is said to be found in Russia. It exists in Moscow and is 203 years old. Its title is the Old Nikolajka Pharmacy, and since 1833 it has been in the family of the present proprietor. It is a building of imposing dimensions, with many departments, including one of professional education for the staff, which numbers 700 persons. About 2,000 prescriptions are said to be dispensed daily.

Evansville's Big New Department Store

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30th.

The Fourth Annual Fall Opening of the Economy Department Store, Evansville, occurs next Wednesday, October 30th, and the big successes of former years promise to be eclipsed by the event next week. A personal invitation is extended to every person within a radius of fifty miles to attend.

This Store's Openings Are Like the County Fair

You can buy Furs, Cloaks, Dry Goods, Rugs, Carpets, Shoes, Clothing, Gents' Furnishings, Hardware, Crockery, Groceries, etc., etc., at lower prices during the opening sale than ever before. Every line has been augmented, enlarged, and the season's choicest offerings are here in profusion.

SPECIAL ABOUT FURS--On this day we will have with us a special representative from the large Detroit Fur House of Wm. H. Miller & Co. Furs of every description will be shown--probably the largest and finest line you will have the opportunity of inspecting this season.

IMMENSE CLOAK STOCK--Our Coat and Cloak stock is very well assorted and will be an interesting department to visit.

GROCERY DEMONSTRATIONS ALL DAY--We shall have demonstrators in the various lines of edibles, that you may sample and know for yourself how good the articles are. Twenty-five extra sales people have been engaged for the opening, so that no one will have trouble in getting waited on.

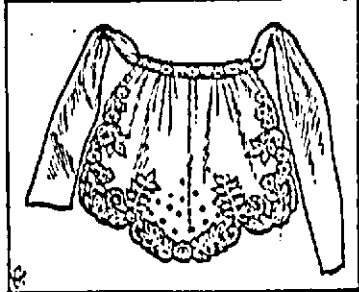

It will pay any person handsomely to come 50 miles to attend this grand opening and secure some of the great values. Kniff & Hatch's Orchestra of Janesville will discourse sweet music afternoon and evening. Hot coffee and lunch will be served free. Remember the date, next Wednesday, Oct. 30th, and the store--

Xmas Ideas For Santa Claus Helpers

THIS illustration shows a well fitting and prettily shaped apron of lawn with decoration in fluted bands. The bands are wide and easy to handle and may be worked rapidly. The lawn is placed into place and heated to bands before removing lace from pattern, after which the lace is hemmed down to lawn. In some places the lawn is cut from the design. The raw edges of lawn may either be turned under and hemmed to the bands on wrong side or just carefully whipped. A few plaits are laid to make a perfect fit at waist line and a band about one inch wide put on. Then five rosettes are made of the wide bands by gathering around a small ring. These rosettes are tacked securely on the band in even spaces and in such manner as to permit the soft, wide mesaline ribbon to be drawn through. The illustration hardly does justice to this very pretty belt effect.

A stocking bag is by no means a new idea, but it is so practical and useful that it always makes an acceptable gift. A pretty one may be made with a yard of blue shawl or any pretty material, two yards of ribbon one inch wide, a small piece of white flannel, some stiff pasteboard and a spool of silk. Of the pasteboard cut four circular pieces, each one measuring seven inches across. Cover these four pieces smoothly with the cloth and overlap the edges of two together with silk, the remaining two to be done in the same way for the opposite side. The puff should be a straight piece measuring six inches long and twelve inches wide. This is to be gathered each side to fit round the edge of the circular pieces, leaving a space at the top of the circle three inches for the opening, thus forming the bag. Make for the outside of one of the circles a piece of the same size and shape and embroider or applique some little design upon it.

Then cut from the flannel several leaves the same shape, but smaller, buttonhole stitch or pluck the edges and fasten them to the top of the apron on the bag, as the leaves in any needlebook are fastened, then sew the embroidered cover outside of this at the top. Where it is fastened place a bow of ribbon. This is for holding the darning needles. On the circle for the opposite side a piece of cloth is gathered top and bottom, to cover a little more than half the circle, for a pocket. In the center of the top run an elastic, and in the pocket is kept the yarn for darning. The ribbon is used to draw the puff together at the top, and the interior is the receptacle for the stockings.

The corset cover shown in the illustration may be made to slip on over the head or it may open down the center front. The embroidered pieces are made separately from the cover and are fastened at the top only so that the cover may be as full as one chooses. The embroidered pieces are edged with Valenciennes insertion and edge. Featherstitching may be used to fasten the insertion in place, and French knots may also be added if desired.

A Pretty Tie Hanger.
A three branch towel rack, the sort that screws to the side of a door or shelf, makes an extremely nice tie hanger for a man. The rack may be of the cheapest wood, as its branches are wrapped with cotton batting sprinkled with sachet powder. When this is done ribbon is wound round and round perfectly smooth, the ends being tucked at the hinged ends.

Almond Meal.
Nothing is better than almond meal to keep the skin smooth and white. Use it in place of soap or rub on the hands when almost dry.

Hurry.
To our own age belongs the credit of having rushed hurry from the degraded position of a disease to that of a commercial process. Formerly hurry simply brought people to an early grave, with nothing to show for it, whereas now it is become the means of transforming peace of mind, which is a solace, to say the best of it, into ready money. Hurry has grown to be a great fact in life. Even the fashions take account of it, until women are found doing up their hair in such a way that they may go the spend limit without fear of its coming down. And the best of hurry is that it is its own sufficient justification. Nobody expects hurry to have any particular reason behind it any more.--Life.

The Jewel of Forgiveness.
Nothing is more moving to man than the spectacle of reconciliation; our weaknesses are thus indomitable and are not too costly, being the price we pay for the hour of forgiveness; and the archangel who has never felt anger has reason to envy the man who subdues it. When thou forgivest, the man who has pierced thy heart stands to thee in the relation of the sea-worm that perforates the shell of the mussel, which straightway closes the wound with a pearl.--Hitcher.

Some Reason for Her Fear.
The wife of the Pittsburgh millionaire reached her breakfast table in fear and trepidation. The waiting maid offered her the morning paper. "No, Marie; never give me those when John is out of town on business. I can't bear to think what they might contain." And she sipped her coffee with heavy eyes.--Judge.

The Great American Novel.
The pretty nurse had taken the best of care of the steel millionaire. "I want you to marry me," said he simply. "Why, Mr. Giltedge; this is rather sudden." "I know, child, I know. But you'll have plenty of time to get used to the idea. I'll have a floor job to get rid of my wife."--Louisville Courier-Journal.

To Clean a Steel Knife.
Cut an Irish potato in half, dip one of the pieces in the bric-a-brac which is generally used for cleaning knives. Rub the blade of the knife and the stain will immediately disappear.

Old Church.
The one thousandth anniversary of the founding of St. Peter's church, Chester, England, finds the structure in good condition, portions of it having been rebuilt in 1440 and 1673.

Dreaded Malaria.
Malaria renders nearly a fifth of the land of the globe dangerous to white men.

Explanation Was Necessary.
As the Pratt's dog was at last detached from the trousers leg of the new milkman by Mr. Pratt's vigorous efforts, the victim of the onslaught began to express his mind with considerable freedom. "I wouldn't keep a dog like that," he said, indignantly, but Mr. Pratt broke in before he had time to say any more. "He's only playful, that's all," he insisted, and at the same time he pressed something into the new milkman's hand. The man glanced at the end of green, and then, as he transferred it to a safe pocket, his expression changed. "I guess I can take a little fun as well as anybody," he said, dryly. "But till you explained it, I had a notion that dog was in earnest when he bit that piece out of my trousers."--Youth's Companion.

Beak Too Much for Her.
Minnie was a nice, well-behaved little girl, but she was "awfully particular" about what she ate. Of course her mother tried every means to break her of this habit. So when she saw Minnie eyeing the egg before her suspiciously, she said, rather sharply: "There's nothing the matter with the egg, my child; you must eat all of it." Minnie said not a word, but resignedly commenced to test the contents of the egg. Presently she appealed to her mother. "Mamma," said she; "must I really eat the beak, too?"

Smart Doctor.
"My husband is troubled with a buzzing noise in his ears. What would you advise?" "I would advise him to go to the seashore for a month or two." "But he can't get away." "Then you can go."

Immense Serpent.
The largest serpent ever measured was an anaconda, which Dr. Gardner found dead in Mexico. It was 37 feet long, and it took two horses to drag it along.

Pays to Get the Best.
When buying fruit trees, shrubs or vines it is always safest to get first grade stock. There is not much difference in price, but a big difference in quality of first and second grade stock.

Over Seventy.
There are three classes into which all the women past seventy, that ever I knew, were divided: 1. That dear old soul; 2. That old woman; 3. That old witch.

Made Themselves Great.
From the ranks of the poor and lowly and the despised have come intellectual giants who, by head and hand, have enriched the world and at the same time have reflected everlasting lustre on themselves.

RATES IN MEXICO TO GO UP.

Railway Commission Allows Roads to Make 12 Per Cent. Increase.

Mexico City, Oct. 28.--It was authoritatively stated Sunday that a general rise in the railway rates of the country would go into effect in the near future. This conclusion was reached after many sessions of the railway commission and the officials of the various railways. The latter held out for a 30 per cent. increase, but the commission agreed to a 12 per cent. increase. No agreement was reached on the matter of the shipment of ores. This point will be settled at a later conference.

Canada's New Yacht Wrecked.
Gooderich, Ont., Oct. 28.--The $10,000 steam yacht recently purchased by the Canadian government for fishery service, struck a sunken crib in the harbor Saturday, and it is thought she will be a total loss. The purchase price, it is said, had not yet been turned over to Mrs. Theodore Fuhl, of Detroit, from whom the steamer was bought.

Woman Blain and Two Men Shot.
Hawwood, Mo., Oct. 28.--Mrs. E. T. Molzahn was shot and killed, her husband, Dr. Molzahn, was shot and seriously wounded and Charles McElvahn was slightly wounded in a pistol duel between McElvahn and Dr. Molzahn at the latter's home here late Saturday night. Dr. Molzahn returned home unexpectedly, finding McElvahn.

Accused of Killing His Baby.
Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 28.--Joseph Conino is in jail here accused of causing the death of his 16-month-old baby. It is alleged that the father on reaching the family home in Port Perry, a mining town near here, several nights ago, flew into a passion and with a miner's pick crushed in the baby's skull.

All Bucharest Prays for Rain.
Bucharest, Oct. 28.--The distress resulting from the unprecedented drought caused a remarkable scene here Sunday. The bishops and all other clergy, together with many thousands of people, marched through the city, praying for rain. All business was suspended during the procession.

Prominent Akron Man Found Dead.
Akron, O., Oct. 28.--Fred A. Horon, cashier of the Dollar Savings bank, and one of the most prominent men in the city, was shot and killed in his home Sunday afternoon. His family was away and a servant girl returned to the home and found him lying on the floor dead.

Self-Made Man.
Edward Yates, who recently died in Watworth, England, leaving a fortune of $5,000,000 in real estate in and about London, began business life as a poor bricklayer.

WHAT IS A WANT AD?

Nine out of ten people will answer that question this way: "Why, it's a little advertisement for Help Wanted or Situation Wanted."

Yes, it is. But is that all? Did you ever stop to think of the many uses to which these little Want Ads may be put?

Here is a list of the classification under which Want Ads can be inserted in The Gazette at a moderate cost and with the assurance of practically certain results.

You can count on your fingers the number of folks who at some time or other could not use the classified columns of The Gazette to advantage in filling a Want.
